Recently enrolled students are invited to be part of the internationalization

- There are more than three registered groups interested in participating in student mobility to France and Canada.

The languages have increasingly greater influence at UTNA, which is reflected in the options available for young people to prepare to discover new cultures and languages that are present in the region as a result of the industry that has been installed in the state of Aguascalientes. It is necessary for Graduating professionals to become proficient in English, also some basic understanding of other languages. Japanese, French and German are part of the range of possibilities offered by the institution to be able to interact affectively in a globalized world they find themselves in.

To publicize these options to students who recently joined this university, the language department hosted a talk at Auditorio Jorge Galvan. Instructors from the different language courses addressed the students and they mention part of what students will learn by joining the courses offered during the starting quarter, more than two languages is a priority at this time, so they urged them to seize the opportunity to learn more a language for free, noting that the best investment you can make is in knowledge.

In addition, Professor Fernando Najera invited students to participate in the "Mobility Program Student MEXPROTEC" which promotes every year by the Federal Government and which involves making a year of study in France to obtain a professional license, being an educational level between the TSU and Engineering, in addition to carrying out their internship in a company in the same country. He also mention to them the requirements they must meet, among which are maintaining a minimum average of 8.5 until the fifth semester and obtain certification in the French language DELF B1, so he encourage the student community to prepare to seek to be one of the beneficiaries of this scholarship that covers the cost of living, air transportation Mexico-Paris-Mexico, intensive French course four weeks upon arrival in France, and medical insurance abroad.

It is noteworthy that in search of strengthening the area has the support of Stephen Howard of England, who will remain in our institution for a year as part of the Scholarship Program Exchange Assistants Language Mexico-United Kingdom the Dirección General de Relaciones Internacionales (DGRI) of the Ministry of Education carried out in collaboration with the British Council Mexico. Among his main activities includes; teachers’ support, and club of conversation from Monday to Thursday for students who wish to strengthen their speaking and listening abilities. Besides knowing idioms to help them become familiar with the language, to really take advantage of dynamics, it takes place Monday through Thursday with the participation of 20 students maximum per day to provide better care to each of them.

Moreover, the German expert Brigitte Lux-Kliesch, who contribute by training qualified personnel and managers of companies and institutions in Germany and in the world, this as part of the benefits of SES-anut Convention (SES Foundation is a nonprofit umbrella organizations of Industry and Trade supported by the German Ministry of Economic Cooperation of the German Government).

It is essential that young people have opportunities for professional growth, so we encourage all students to participate in the different mobility programs and internationalization through Proyecta 100,000 and Proyecta 10,000 scholarships as a way to gain new knowledge, strengthen their skills, besides visiting countries and cultures, to broaden their world view. Therefore, we invite the student community to prepare for an abroad international experience, which can be achieved through discipline, dedication and effort, it will definitely pay off when facing the workforce.
